

Notice to Businesses Which Generate Hazardous Waste

Businesses in the State of California, which generate hazardous waste, are subject to state and county hazardous waste regulations, regardless of the amount generated.

What is hazardous waste?

Hazardous Waste is defined in the California Health and Safety Code of Regulations. In basic terms, it is a solid, liquid, or gaseous substance that you no longer use, which may pose a substantial hazard to human health or the environment. Generally, a hazardous waste has one or more of the following properties:

- Ignitable (catches fire easily)
- Toxic (can affect you if inhaled, swallowed or gets on your skin)
- Reactive (can catch fire, explode or give off fumes when exposed to air or water)
- Corrosive (burns eyes, skin, etc. on contact, will corrode metal)

What are hazardous waste generators required to do?

As a generator of hazardous waste, you are required to:

- Have an EPA ID number
- Have a Hazardous Waste Generator's permit from the county
- Have an extremely hazardous waste permit, if applicable
- Identify, analyze, properly label and sort all hazardous waste
- Provide a secure storage area for the waste
- Inspect the area regularly for spills, leaks, etc.
- Have a contingency plan for fire, explosions and spills
- Provide training and appropriate protective equipment to personnel
- Use a manifest when shipping waste via a licensed hazardous waste transporter to a licensed hazardous waste facility
- Maintain records of compliance with the above requirements.

How can I properly dispose of my hazardous waste?

As indicated above, you are required to ship your hazardous waste via a licensed hazardous waste transporter. You are required to ship this waste to a licensed hazardous waste recycling, treatment or disposal facility. Your disposal options will depend on the nature and type of waste that you have. For your convenience we have listed the licensed hazardous transporters operating in San Bernardino County. This listing is not an endorsement of these companies but is provided for your convenience. Additionally, we have listed some hazardous waste recycling companies which may be able to handle your waste. Please note that it is county, state and federal policy to manage hazardous waste according to the following hierarchy:

- Source reduction, reduce the waste being generated
- Recycle to the extent possible
- Treat the waste to reduce the volume and/or toxicity
- Dispose of the residual waste left after treatment.

What permits do I need?

It will be necessary for you to obtain an Identification Number. Application forms for Identification Numbers may be obtained from the Cal EPA, Toxic Substances Control Program, (916) 324-1781. Additionally, you are required to have a hazardous waste generator's permit from San Bernardino County. Call the Office of the Fire Marshal at (909) 386-8401 and request an application packet for a Hazardous Waste Generators Permit and additional information on your responsibilities as a hazardous waste generator.
