New memorial honors victims of San Bernardino mass shooting

In San Bernardino they are remembering the 14 lives lost during a terrorist attack at a holiday party in 2015. A new memorial is now up at Cal State San Bernardino, honoring all those lost.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. - Thursday marked six years since 14 people were killed and 22 others injured during a terrorist attack at a holiday party in San Bernardino.

On Dec. 2, 2015 Syed Farook and his wife Tashfeen Malik opened fire using high-powered weapons on victims outside and inside the Inland Regional Center (IRC) in San Bernardino.

To honor the lives lost, a new memorial was unveiled Thursday at Cal State San Bernardino. Five of the victims attended school there.

The San Bernardino County Museum in Redlands also held a special ceremony to unveil a model of a new exhibit known as the "Curtain of Courage."

It is a curved curtain that will be commemorated with colored glass and inscriptions chosen by the family members.

Artist Walter Hood worked on the creation with the families who got to see it today. It will be on display until December 19.

The "Curtain of Courage" Memorial is under construction on the east side of the San Bernardino County Government Center and is expected to be unveiled in the spring.

"The Curtain of Courage Memorial will be a place of reflection where the community can unite in spirit with the families of those lost and injured in this unimaginable tragedy. We will never forget their stories," said San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors Chairman Curt Hagman.

No-Burn Order Extended for Much of Southland Through Friday

LOS ANGELES (CNS) - The South Coast Air Quality Management District today extended a mandatory prohibition on indoor and outdoor wood burning in much of the Southland through tomorrow due to a forecast of high air pollution in the area.

The residential wood-burning ban was extended for a seventh consecutive day, and now will be in effect at least through 11:59 p.m. Friday. It affects all those in the South Coast Air Basin, including the non-desert portions of Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino counties and all of Orange County.

The order does not apply to mountain communities above 3,000 feet, the Coachella Valley or the high desert. Homes that rely on wood as a sole source of heat, low-income households and those without natural gas service also are exempt from the requirement.

The no-burn rule prohibits burning wood as well as manufactured fire logs, such as those made from wax or paper. Gas and other non-wood burning fireplaces are not restricted, the SCAQMD said.

Fine particles in wood smoke, also known as particulate matter or PM2.5, can get deep into the lungs and cause respiratory problems such as asthma.

Residents can receive no-burn day notifications by signing up for Air Alerts via email or text at www.AirAlerts.org.
